Dealing With Scientific Journal Reviewers: From Comments to Resubmission

1 December

This course covers journal decision types and techniques for responding effectively to reviewers' feedback, as well as strategies for revising and resubmitting manuscripts to enhance publication success.

Format:
Live online

CPD:
1.5 hours for your records

Certificate of completion

Overview

This course provides a comprehensive understanding of the journal review process, focusing on the various types of editorial decisions that authors may encounter, from acceptance to rejection. Participants will explore the different types of reviewers' comments, including major and minor revisions, and learn techniques for crafting clear, respectful, and effective responses to reviewers' feedback. The course also offers practical strategies for revising manuscripts and navigating the resubmission process to improve the chances of publication success.

Benefits of attending

At the end of this workshop, attendees will be able to:

- Understand the types of journal decisions and reviewers' comments
- Communicate professionally with journal editors and reviewers during and after the submission process
- Respond to reviewers' comments constructively and prepare a strong resubmission package

Who should attend?
